Vendor and Materials Display

We are pleased to announce that author and international presenter, Diane Paynter of Marzano & Associates will be a presenter for our first SIEC ESL session for 2009-2010! In this workshop, participants will have the opportunity to learn the research related to the importance and effects of building academic background knowledge in the classroom. We will focus on how to create a school-wide list of the essential terms and phrases that relate to the Indiana State standards. Additionally, participants will learn how to apply current best practice when teaching this vocabulary to students. Since many classrooms may have ELL students who display a deficit in overall basic vocabulary, this workshop will focus on how to organize your classroom so as to emphasize both the academic and basic vocabulary needed for success in school. Each participant will receive as a part of registration, Ms. Paynter's book "For the Love of Words: Vocabulary Instruction that Works".

Also, each year at the State ESL Conference, the Indiana Department of Education provides an excellent vendor hall sharing a variety of materials – in print, using technology, and more. The SIEC has many requests about what sorts of materials are available. Join us for a southwestern Indiana vendor show on resources and materials to help with ELL students in the classroom. If your district was one who received only a small amount of money in the Non-English Speaking Grant or have available funds in Title III grant, this may be a great opportunity to identify some useful resources for the classroom.
